THE SMART SET IN EVIDENCE AT WHITE PLAINS RESIREDAY.

The Horse Show Interinded by a Thrilling ..... In which Miss Tilford of Res showed that She Could Handle the Hibbens-Two Palls at the Hurdle Trials which Might Have Bean Traglent-Line of Priss Winners Who Were There.

Westchester county put on its gay attire restorder and gathered Itself at White Plains for the opening day of the Westchester County Pair. A small contingent went up from this city by train, but the great majority of the attendance was made up of the county people. society was there in force. Men in baggy knee breeches and long tan-colored overcoats and women clad in mannish-looking box coats drove into the grounds in carriages, carte traps, breaks, drags, coaches, and all the other varieties of vehicles known to the ultra-civilized man. They came for the horse show.

The morning was to the farmers and their gives. They wandered about admiring the gower show, testing the fruit and vegetables, with a noble disregard of the "Hands Off" signs, petting the big, patient cattle, poking the pige in the ribs to see if they were fat, and endeavoring with laudable energy not to miss sathing worth seeing. And there was hardly time to see the things worth seeing before the eginning of the horse show at 2 P. M. It was announced that while the horses entered for the prizes were being judged in the enclosure trotting races would be run on the half-mile So they had two rings to their circus.

The smart set divided into two parts, many going to the grand stand and boxes, while those who preferred to stay in their carriages drove inside the circle enclosed by the track and formed a line along the fence bounding the space where the judging was to be done. After the judging in each event the winners paraded on the track in front of the grand

A $50 cup offered by Mr. William H. Taylor of Dobbs Ferry for the best gentleman's saddle horse, 15 hands or over, brought out a fine field of ten entries, from which Mr. L. Stern's handsome chestnut gelding Gamecock won the prize. The awards were: Gentlemen's Saddle Herse, Fifteen Hands or Over.— First, L. Stern's Gamecock, ch. g., 155; secon i. R. A. Osberne's Match Maker, ch. g., 15; third, Hoxton Farm's Pail Mail, blue r., 15, 3.

Eight horses were led in to contest for the $50 cup offered by Mr. Elisha M. Fulton, Jr., of Ryo for ladies' trap, single. The judges decided as follows:

Ladies' Trap, Single—First, Mrs. Marion Story's Lady Eisle. Second, Mrs. J. Lounsbery's Caradock. Third, Ferry Tiflany's Polly.

There were but three contestants for the $50 cup presented by the Horse Show Committee for single ponies shown before a trap. The award was:

Ponies, Single, 1214 to 1334 Hands-First, Dr. M. J. Tewer's Diamond; second, d. Green's Mara.

Dlamond was driven by pretty Miss Tilford of Rye, and as the girl drove out on the track she was greeted by a storm of applause from the grand stand. Fither this alarmed Diamond or the flush of victory affected her temper, for she suddenly took the bit between her teeth and started up the track on a dead run. Some men near the turn rushed out into the track to stop the runnway, and the horse swerved sharply, nearly overturning the trap.

"Keep out of the way." called Miss Tilford, coolly; "I can handle her alone."

Then began a lively fight for the mastery between the girl and the horse. Miss Tilford is a muscular young woman, and when she took a firm grip on the reins and began to seesaw the horse's head from side to side Diamond became very tired and slowed down almost to a walk when half way around. Then she took a long breath and bolted again. By this time every person in the grand stand was standing up watching the swaying cart with breathless excitoment. As it came swinging around the curve Miss Tilford was sitting well forward on the seat holding the reins with a firm hand, but not endeavoring now to pull in the horse. She had evidently decided to let Diamond have a little run. Half a dozen men ian out on the track." Shouted two or three of the judges in a breath. "Give them room. She's all right; she can handle the horse."

Down swopt the horse toward the grand stand, and when almost opposite the girl driver took a sudden turn of the reins about her hands and braced back. The horse was taken by surprise, her head went back, and she subsided into a trot as a swelling murmur of admiration for Miss Tilford's pluck and skill came from the stand.

Don't appland," shouted the judges; but too late, for a storm of applance and cheers startled Diamond into another burst of speed. This time the horse ran only a short distance before Miss Tilford brought him to a dend stop and jumped out, as half a dozen men Ponies, Single, 1214 to 1334 Hands-First, Dr. M. J. In the contest of roadsters and road rigs, single, five horses competed for the $50 cup of-fered by Mr. Watson B. Dickerman of Mama-soneck, with the following awards: Roadsters and Road Rigs, Single—First, W. H. Tailer; second, Col. C. McLean.

There were but two contestants for the $50 cub for lady's trap, double, given by Mr. George S. Dearborn of Rye. The judges decided as follows:

Lady's Trap, Double—First, Mrs. Marion Stery's Lady Rithel and Lady Elize, driven by Miss Illany. Second. Mrs. J. B. Harriman's Hurry and Hustle, driven by Mr. Bates.

Bates. The most interesting event of the day was the last, a contest of hunters, five years old or over, jumping four-foot hurdles, for a cup valued at $50 offered by Mr. Wm. E. Iselin of New Rochelle. This was a trying contest, as two of the hurdles were very close together, and of the eight horses entered three were unable to take all the hurdles. There were two mishaps in this contest, either of which might have resulted seriously but for the skill of the riders.

unable to take all the hurdles. There were two mislans in this contest, either of which might have resulted seriously but for the skill of the riders.

F. W. Yrochie's horse Eros, ridden by Instructor Long of Dickel's Riding Academy, in the preliminary trial refused the first hurdle, swerving so sharrly as to unsent the rider, which was unable to state the result of the rider, who swing around under the horse's nock, hanging by the reins, which he kept hold of, and by one stirrup, from which he was unable of extricate his foot. As the horse plunged and cared, it looked as if Long must soon be shaken from his hold on the reins, and either be diagged along head downward or trampled by the animal.

Seeing his danger, and that, being unable to extricate his foot, his only chance was to swing himself back into the saddle, Long gathered his strength, and with a sudden spring throw his free leg over the horse's neck and drew himself into the saddle by the reine. It was a fine exhibition of skill, judgment, and trongth and the crowd cheered Long vigorially, But Eros's temper was spoiled and he called the induced to take a burdle.

Shortly after, R. E. BAD DAY FOR DELIA KEEGAN.

Judge Pryor Wants to Know How She Can San Russell Sage After 23 Years. Judge Pryor seemed inclined to throw the case out of court when Lawyer J. B. Marshall made a motion before him yesterday in Della Seegan's suit for $100,000 damages against Russell Sage for breach of promise of marriage. At any rate, he told Mr. Marshall that if he could not show why the statute of limitations did not bar his suit he was bound to be defeated, and insisted that he must do that showing to-day. Mr. Marshall's motion, on which Judge Pryor reserved decision, was to strike out the second paragraph of Russell Sage's amended answer to Delia Keegan's complaint, on the ground that it was soundalous, trrelevant, immaterial, and redundant. In this second paragraph Mr. Sage declares, on information and belief, that Delia Keegan, during the time she bellef, that Delia Keegan, during the time sne avers she was "engaged" to him, was not pure, and that she had since been repeatedly sent to Blackwoll's Island; so often, indeed, had she appeared before police magistrates that she had tried to conceal her identity by giving names other than her own.

This paragraph, Lawver Marshall argued, was redundant, because elsewhere in his answer Mr. Sage had gonerally and specifically denied the allegations made in the plaintiff's complaint, thus covering all the polars in volved. The paragraph, moreover, was scandeficient the allegations into all the points in-complaint, thus covering all the points in-volved. The paragraph moreover, was scan-daious, and could not be introduced unless to strack the character of the plaintiff. The as-sertions made by Mr. Sage were also disputed, and the first one of the alleged arrests of the plaintiff referred to was made at Mr. Sage's instigation.

sertions made by Mr. Sage were also disputed, and the first one of the alleged arrests of the plaintiff referred to was made at Mr. Sages instigation.

Col. E. C. James, for Mr. Sage, said that the paragraph was a reply to scandalous matter, and that it was material. A statute applying to such cases said that any allegations tending to such cases said that any allegations tending ing a suit for breach of promise, and to show that she was not a desirable bride, could be set forth in the answer. The scandal, too, emanated from the plaintiff. After waiting during twenty-three years of moral turpitude, she came with her statement into a court of justice. Judge Pryor asked if the statute of limitations had not been pleaded by the defence, and if the plaintiff had not failed to answer that plea.

Col. James, after answering yes to both parts of the question, said that any clerk in a lawyer's office know that the action was barred by the statute of limitations after six years, yet this plaintiff had permitted more than twenty years to go by before beginning her outrageous suit.

Mr. Marshall said he had a reply to the plea and would make it public if necessary. There was also praiseworthy and laudable motive in not bringing the suit for so many years.

Judge Pryor said sharply:

"If there is not a reply to the point as to the statute of limitations, then you are bound to be defeated. I want to know if there is a defence to that. If you have no defence to it, then this agitation of such a case, involving such matter of affront to public decency on one side or the other, should not be tolerated, and I shall not allow the court I preside over to be agitated with litigation which, by consent, is not valid.

Lawyer Marshall said he did not concede the point involved and would answer it, but wanted time.

Judge Pryor said that she had had twenty-three years to prepare her case, and he grant-

NOT A NOBLEMAN'S WIFE.

Mrs. Rosenbuch Has Several Grievanges

A motion for alimony and counsel fees is to be argued in the Superior Court to-day, in an limited divorce from Max Rosenbach, The couple met in Buda-Pesth, Max representing himself to be a nobleman. They were married on Sept. 11, 1888, and subsequently came to this country.

Mrs. Rosenbach says her husband wore fine clothing and diamonds, and told her he owned houses and was wealthy. She says he took all her money under pretence that he would invest it. She discovered that he was the proprietor of houses of ill-repute and that he had installed her on the third floor of one of them. He attempted later, she avers, to make her an inmate of a house, 15 First street, owned by him and his sister and her husband, but she refused to go there. She wanted to return to Pessie Lechner has brought a suit for separation from her husband. Schair Lechner, to whom she was married thirty years ago in Roumania. They came to this country about fifteen years ago. A motion was made in her behalf before Judge Pryor yesterday for all-mony and counsel fees pending the action. She has had her husband in court on several occasions, and declares she has had nineteen children by him, but only two are now living. The husband says he is the father of but three children. His wife says heabandoned her and is living with another woman. This he says is false. Judge Pryor got the Court of Common Pleas has awarded to Bessie Vandernoorten allimony

Judge Pryor of the Court of Common Pleas has awarded to Bessie Vanderpoorten alimony of $8 a week and a counsel fee of $50 pending her suit for a separation from her husband. Benjamin S. Vanderpoorten, a letter carrier, who receives $1,000 a year. They were married on Nov. 4, 1888. The wife declares that her husband beat her and attempted to choke her. He abandoned her last May, and has not supported her since.

Judge McAdam has granted absolute divorces to Sarah C. Parks from Benjamin W. Parks and to Esther Hartman from Louis Hartman. He has also annuiled the marriage of Morris Bodker and Mary Bodker.

The Charge of Larceny Against Lilling Cummings's Husband Dismissed,

Lillian Cummings, the actress, was waiting the Tombs Police Court yesterday when her husband, Arthur K. Thyll, was arraigned there on the charge of larceny preferred by Carl Schneider of 222 Centre street. Thyll was arrested on Monday. He spent the night in the Elizabeth street station house, and showed the effect of having done so when he was brought

Mr. Schneider was rather vague concerning his charge of larceny. He said that in Octo-ber, 1891, he made a model of a cloth cutting machine for Mr. Thyil. He said that Bernard S. Kiee, who was interested with Thyli and a Mr. Myers in the machine, gave $10 to Thyli to be given to him. He did not receive the

Mr. Myers in the machine, gave $10 to Thyll to be given to him. He did not receive the money.

Thyll testified that he was Vice-President of the Electric Cutter Company of 103 Elm street and the inventor of the cutting machine of which Schneider made the model. He denied the charge of larceny. His counsel, Mr. Sullivan, argued that even if hise did give the $10 to Thyll there would be no larceny involved, as it would be a transaction between partners. Further, he said that Schneider offered in court to withdraw the complaint if the $10 were paid. Mr. Sullivan said he would not settle for 5 cents, as it would be a gross injustice to Mr. Thyll. Justice Martin dismissed the case.

Then Thyll and his bride embraced each other affectionately and left for the Park Avenue Hotel. Thyll said it was a trumped-up charge, made for the purpose of ruining him.

"In regard to our marriage," said Thyll, as he slid his arm around his wife's waist, "let me say that we have been married ceremonially, but if her mother wishes us to be again married, we are very willing that another ceremony should be performed. Aren't we?"

His wife drew closer to him and rested her head upon his shoulder.

"I am quite willing to be married again," she said and then with a little puckering of the lips, "but it must be to Arthur."

A Tie-up on the Louisville and Nashritte. LOUISVILLE, Sept. 26.-No treight trains went out on the Louisville and Nashville Enlirond to-night, and it was with difficulty that the passenger trains were sent out.

This afternoon all the switchmen and switch engineers struck. The cause they assigned was that they had to be continually showing passes to the deputy sheriffs who are guarding the yards during the strike of the machinists.

The machinists have so far been able to keep the shops closed by inducing all mechanics brought here to work to loave.

They were the only branch of the read's operatives who resisted the ten per cent. reduction imposed a month ago. Trainmen acceded to the cut, but have been dissatisfied, and, the machinists claim, will join them at once.

Manan, Sept. 26 .- The police have continued the search for Anarchists all day. This after-noon they found an infernal machine and two pieces of tubing loaded with dynamite in the lodgings of a workingman named Cerrajero. They went directly from his coom to the factory in which he worked and arrested him. Many men suspected of being Anarchists have left the city to escape arrest. IN ORDERING

LURED HIM AMONG HER COUNTRYMEN

And then Appealed to Their Chivalry-A. Brunie Seifried, a young Polish woman, told Mrs. Jennie Farreil of 617 Driggs avenue, Williamsburgh, such a pitifui tale of destitution a few weeks ago that Mrs. Farrell offered her a home. Brunie helped Mrs. Farrell in her household duties in payment of her board. On Sunday Mrs. Farrell discovered that the young woman was not honest and told her to find another place. When Brunle went away she took with her several of Mrs. Farrell's dresses. Mrs. Farrell obtained a warrant for larceny against her, and on Monday she was arrested. Brunio cried bitterly when she was arraigned in the Lee Avenue Police Court, and told Justice Goetting that her husband serted her more than a month ago and that told Justice Goetting that her husband deserted her more than a month ago and that her two small children were locked up in a room somewhere in the Polish quarter of the Fourteenth ward.

The magistrate was inclined to believe her story, and, on Monday afternoon, he sent Charles Berger, the Polish interpreter of the court, with her, to see if they could find the children. Berger went with her to the Polish colony in North Sixth street. Brune saw a crowd of Poles at North Sixth street and Wythe avenue, and took the interpreter over to them. When she neared the crowd she began to cry, and finally exclaimed in Polish:

"My country people, help me: this man has insulted me, and persists in following me."

In a twinkling the crowd of Poles surrounded Berger and punched him. When he asked them what they meant they threw him down, and one of the men kicked him. When he sawled them what they meant they threw him down, ansailants and looked around for Brune he saw her running like a deer down North Sixth street. He started in pursuit, and the Poles followed him. When he caught her at Kent avenue and North Fifth street the Poles surrounded, him again and demanded the woman's release.

They were on the point of taking her from him by force when a policeman appeared and Berger's assailants were routed. Brunie was taken to the Herbert street police station and held. When she was arraigned in court again yesterday Berger related his experience, and Justice Goetting sentenced Brunie to twentynine days in jail on Mrs. Farrell's charge. The prisoner afterward admitted that the story she told of her husband and children was not true.

SUICIDE OF A REAL ESTATE DEALER. His Body Found by His Little Daughter While at Play in the Cellar,

Herman Ehrman, a real estate and fire in surance agent at 120 Nostrand avenue, Williamsburgh, committed suicide shortly before noon yesterday by shooting himself through the heart with a 32-calibre revolver in the cellar of his house. He was 32 years old, and had a wife and two children. The latter are Madge and Herman, Jr., aged respectively 7 and 5 years. The boy was run over by a car at Myrtle and Nostrand avenues about two ears ago and had a leg crushed. Afterward Ehrman sued the Brooklyn City Railroad Com-

Ehrman sued the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, and, it is said, recovered more than $30,000 damages. Nearly all of this money was put in trust for the boy.

The children in the house where Ehrman lived are in the habit of playing in the cellar, and shortly before noon yesterday little Madge Ehrman went down to biay. She ran to the rear of the cellar and knocked against her father's body. She screamed and called some of her companions. Madge didn't know then that the body, which was lying on its side with the face toward the wall, was her father's. All the children looked closely at the body, and Madge exclaimed. "Oh, it's capa." She screamed for her mother. The other children also screamed, and soon the cellar was filled with neighbors. Mrs. Ehrman when the saw the body nearly fainted. She was carried up to her rooms, while several men turned the body on its back and discovered blood stains on the left side. By Ehrman's side was his 32-calibrersevoiver with one chamber empty. In the mean time an ambulance call was sent out and Ambulance Surgeon Reilly of the Eastern District Hospital responded. He found that Ehrman had shet himself, through the heart, and that death had been instantaneous.

Mrs. Ehrman said last night that she knew of no reason why her husband should have killed himself. Their married life, she added, was happy, and they were fairly well to do.

THIEVES ACROSS THE HARLEM.

The Posts Are So Long that the Polles Cunnot Protect Property Pully. The residents of the Twenty-fourth ward are urging an increase of the police force there. Within a week half a dozen burglaries have furnished them with new arguments.

The house of Joseph Shea, brother of Coroner Shea, at Decatur avenue and Isaac street, was visited by burglars while the family were out on Friday evening. The thieves packed up the eliverware in a pillow case and had got as far as the yard with it when Mr. Soteldo, who lives next door, returned home. The thieves dropped their booty and escaped. A few weeks ago Mr. Soteldo's house was robbed.

The telegraph service to and from the interior has been robbed of two gold watches an expensive scarf pin, and a suit of clothes by burgins. The burgiars broke into the house through the window of an extension in the rear. They had gathered a quantity of other property together, when they were frightened off by the return home of Mr. Cross's son. They had searched the house by the light of a candle and had dropped the grease all over the carpets.

Mrs. Francis Carroll's house at 2.108 Bathgate avenue is well guarded by several handsome dogs, owned by her son. The dogs awoke the family on Sunday morning. Then two men were seen running across the grounds to Third avenue with two of the dogs in close pursuit. The men had tried to force a rear door.

On Monday night Expressman J. Pringle's barn, in Mechanic street, West Farms, was entered and two cases of chocolate were stolen out of one of his wagons.

A safer place for burgiars to work in would be hard to find in New York. The police force is so small that the posts are measured by the entire six hours' tour to ride over the post once.

After half an hour's fighting they field, Pellegrini, All the members were taken prisoners and looked up under a strong military and the bard of the ride over the post once. Philip Cross of Third avenue and 180th street

MISS IVES HELD THE FORT

Grace D. Ives has obtained judgments for exemplary damages from Justice Lynn of the First District Court as payment for the high old times that reigned for several days on the top floor of 12 Vesey street, where she carried on a bookbindery, employing fifteen girls. She had rented two-thirds of the loft from the Fidelity Printing Company by the year, but gave notice of removal last May. It was arranged that if another tenant was not found she could hold over as a monthly tenant.

Peter Quinn, another bookbinder, leased the vacate by the 12th, after she had had time to notify her customers. When Quinn prepared to take full possession she countermanded the permission she had given him to move in part notify her customers. When Quinn prepared to take full possession she countermanded the permission she had given him to move in part of his goods.

Summary proceedings were brought against her. Her landlord got in by a connecting door and took possession. The Judge declined to hear the dispossess case while the landlord was in possession. She went to the premises with Mr. Abercrombie, her counsel, and summoned a policeman. Abercrombie stood at the door and warned every one not to interfere with his client's business.

Philip Carpenter, counsel for the defendants, accepted the challenge and rushed past the doorway, giving Abercrombie one in the breadbasket on the way. Lawyer Ross was also there, abetting Lawyer Carpenter.

"Thus," says the Judge. "was presented the unseemly spectrale of members of the bar engaged in and encouraging a physical conflict for the foreible occupancy of premises."

Miss Ives kept the rooms until June 1, and here's what the fun cost:

Quinn must pay $27 for adverse use of part of the premises and $225 for treaspass, being three times the $75 actual damage found to have been done: William F. Bartley, who broke down a door, must pay $75; William H. Converse, who "stood at the door and threatened fold and fight," is muicted $75; James S. Nathan, "who furned off the steam power and brought in ruffmens to threaten and intimidate," has to turn over another $75. The ruffiness are not mulcted. Costs bring the expenses to $549.50.

RIOTING AT HAMBURG.

The People Restat Policemen Sent to En-

HAMBURG, Sept. 26 .- A riot was caused in St. Pauli, a suburb of this city, to-day by the atempts of the authorities to enforce the san-Stary ordinances. A policeman was killed. The people in one of the poorer districts have long complained of the interference of the authorities with their way of living. When the health officials interfered to-day to enforce cleanliness, there was trouble at once. Stones were ness, there was trouble at once. Stones were thrown and some of the officials were badly bruised. One of the rioters was arrested, whereupon the mob turned their entire attention to the police, and attempted to rescue the prisoner. The crowd made a rush upon the man who had hold of the prisoner, knecked him down, and then trampled upon and kleked him with their heavy wooden shoes.

Word was hastily sent for military aid. In the mean time the police and health officials were fighting for their lives. Soldiers were sent on the run to the scene, and they soon dispersed the mob. They were too late, however-rio save the policeman who had been trampled upon. When the crowd dispersed he was lifted up dead and carried to the police station. His face was unrecognizable and his body was a mass of bruises.

Eight of the rioters have already been arrested on a charge of murder. Other arrests are expected to follow. The man first arrested was rescued by the mob.

During the twenty-four hours ended at noon to day five new cases of cholera and one death were reported to the authorities here. One new cholera case occurred to-day in Altona.

BERLIN, Sept. 2d.—Three persons suffering with cholers were taken to the Month Hospital to-day. One death from the disease occurred to-day.

Calcutta, Sept. 2d.—Advices received here from Persia show that for two weeks past cholers has been ravaging the towns and villages along the eastern shore of the Persian Gulf. Several of the villages have been completely deserted, the inhabitants having field into the interior to escape the scourge that worked such havoc last year. It is believed these fugifives have carried cholers germs with them, and that their flight will result in the wide dissemination of the disease.

ARGENTINA'S TROUBLES.

This is taken as a warning that if upon the expiration of the period of suspension the paper continues its attacks upon the Government, it will be entirely suppressed.

The telegraph service to and from the interior has been stopped, and the wildest sort of rumors consequently gain credence. One rumor is to the effect that the telegraph wires have been cut by the rebels in order to prevent the Government communicating with its forces in the field, but as this presupposes that the insurgents have got in the rear of the national army, it is not generally credited here.

graphic communication to the interior to the public.

Gen. Pellegrini, at the head of the Government troops, recaptured the city of Tucuman yesterday afterboon. The insurgent forces occupying the city made only feeble resistance.

After half an hour's fighting they field. Pellegrini, his staff, and 1,500 infuntry at one marched to the building where the Junta was sitting. All the members were taken prisoners and locked up under a strong military guard.

A smart fight took place off the coast to-day between the Government squadron and tor-pelo boats which have joined the rebels. The torpedo boats made the strack. The whole Government fleet bore down on them, slienced and boarded them, and brought back all their crews as prisoners. Several officers on both sides were killed.

A TREASURER IN TROUBLE.

THE OLD COLONY WILL LOSE THROUGH WASHBURN'S SPECULATIONS.

He Paleely Reported $88,000 in the Treasmry Which is Only Partly Accounted for by an Unauthorized Purchase of Stocks and Bonds, Some of Which Are Worth. less-An Assignment of His Property Will Not Cover the Loss-He to Sick and Old.

BOSTON, Sept. 26. - President Charles F. Choate, at a meeting of the Old Colony stockhelders at the United States Hotel to-day, annonneed that since the printing and distribution of the annual report a discrepancy had been discovered in the accounts of the Treasurer, Mr. John W. Washburn. According to the Treasurer's report there was $96,000 in cash in the treasury. It was found, however, that securities, stocks, and bonds purchased with the company's money represented a part of this cash. The purchase was unauthorized. The Treasurer's office has been vacated, and the Treasurer has made an assignment of all his ontside property for the benefit of the corporation. 'It cannot be told." said Mr. Choate, "how much the loss will be. These securities are not all worth their nominal value, which was represented to be so much cash. It will affeet neither the property nor the dividends. The matter will be further investigated and pushed. In other respects the books of the Treasurer are all right."

The following directors were elected unant mously:

Charles F. Choate, Southboro, Mass.; Thomas J. Bor den Fall River, Mass : Charles P. Clark, New Haven Conn.; Thomas Dunn, Newport, R. I.; George A. Gard her, Boston, Mass; James R. Kendrick, Boston, Mass; Charles L. Lovering, Tannton, Mass; John J. Rusrell, Plymouth, Mass.; Joshua M. Sears, Boston, Mass.; Na

Torrey was elected Treasurer. E. G. Parker was re-sleeted clerk.

It was learned after the adjournment that Treasurer Washburn's wrong doing was not discovered until last Saturday. He was ill at his house, and the auditors had to inspect his books, cash, etc. in his absence. It is known that the wrong doing has been going on for that the wrong doing has been going on for several years.

Mr. Washburn has been Treasurer of the read for some thirty years, and has always been considered entirely trustworthy. He is about 75 years of age, and has a wife, a son, and a daughter. He has made a full exposition of his work. It is probable that his personal assets will not make good his irregularities, as according to the books in the Assessor's office he is assessed only for real estate to the value of $4,300. No record of personal property appears.

sonal assets will not make good his irregularities, as according to the books in the Assessor's office he is assessed only for real setate to the value of $4.300. No record of personal property appears.

After their meeting to-day the directors organized and appointed acommittee to investigate the matter, comprising President Choate and Directors John N. Drayton of Fall River and Nathaniel Thayer of Lancaster. The general counsel was instructed to examine the accounts and to ascertain the exact amount in question, and to determine whether action, civil or criminal, will be necessary. Mr. Washburn gave bonds to the road, with sureties, it is understood, in $35,000.

Mr. Washburn is greatly broken in health, and there is a feeling of sympathy with him and his family. His age will doubtless be a factor in determining what action the company shall take. Mr. Washburn was subject to peculiar attacks. On Wednesslay he did not go home at night, and turned up in the morning in a very much demoralized condition. He said that he had walked to Marbiebead, slept outdoors, and took a carr in the morning and came home. His dress indicated the truth of what he suid. The family sent for Superintendent Kendrick to come to the house. Mr. Washburn was in bed, and a doctor had been called. Those who attended to bis business found that the "cashon hand," $96,000, was partly accounted for by certain stocks, some of which are of value and others worthless. The carrying of these in the Treasurer's account had been apparently going on for years. Washburn had been trying to speculate himself out of his condition, hoping for profits to make himself, whole with the road of the assignment overed securities found in the safe, as well as some others which were in a broker's office down town. CHICAGO, Sept. 26 - This was Odd Fellows' Day at the World's Fair, and it was a great one in point of attendance. The sky was clear, the air very cool, and the immense number of strangers now pouring into Chicago promises to make the week a record breaker at Jackson Park.

The Patriarche Militant were chiefly interested in the competitive drills at the stock pavillon. The Daughters of Rebecca went to Music Hall, where the recital room was set apart for their reception. The members of the other degrees looked on both, and at noon went with all the rest to Festival Hall, where the chief exercises of the day were held. E. S. Conway made an address and was followed

PROTECTION IN CANADA Sir John Thompson Says Unrestricted Rec

Berlin, Ont., Sept. 26.-The Government reopened the Ontarfo campaign here last night by a big mass meeting in the skating rink. Sir John Thomuson made the principal speech. and said the issue before the country was free trade or protection. The scheme of unrestricted reciprocity was utterly impracticable stricted reciprocity was utterly impracticable as far as Canada was concerned. It would be simply throwing open Canada's industries to the competition of the United States, thus undoing what Canada has been endeavoring to build up during the past lifteen years.

The Premier said an intimation had already been conveyed to Washington that if the party now in power there desired to promote freet trade relations, Canada would not be found deaf to their proposal; but he added, "a reciprocity freaty is not popular with Democrats."
Finance Minister Foster also spoke at considerable length on the virtues of the national policy of protection.
